

EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION AND CARE (ECEC) BIRTH - AGE 5

Automation Improving Screening Process for Early Childhood Education

OBJECTIVE

- To simplify the developmental screening process
- To improve early childhood education and care by identifying cognitive, behavioral, and family life challenges
- To simplify the documentation and reporting of data to evaluate program effectiveness and student growth

BENEFITS

- Efficient - reduces time and labor, scores available in real-time
- Comprehensive - 100s of questionnaires (multilingual), data collection, and quality improvement data reporting
- Easy to Use - automatically assigned surveys, provides next developmental stage activities
- Questionnaire categories include:
  - developmental
  - autism (ASD)
  - ADHD
  - Social Determinants of Health (food/housing insecurity, transportation, domestic violence, harsh parenting)
  - safety
  - parenting

TESTIMONIAL

"CHADIS is convenient. It's online. We can send parents the link and they complete the ASQ:3 and ASQ:SE. It is protected, that's very important. It has the ability to resend it and collect that data over time and give tips for developmental activities. It's super user-friendly.

We love the reports. We gather the data and we include it as one data point for making our decisions."

SCREENING WORKFLOW

- Send parent/teacher an invitation link by email or text to complete the questionnaires.
- Parent/teacher completes questionnaires in the comfort of their home at their convenience or can be completed in the classroom or during home visit.
- CHADIS automatically scores questionnaires in real-time and results are available before the parent visit.
- Provides data that can inform the necessity for intervention.
- Facilitates referrals and coordination between CHADIS providers and community organizations, like ECI, in a direct and efficient manner.
- CHADIS can provide developmental stage activity suggestions, resources, and educational materials.
- Reports and some graphs are available for tracking student growth and program effectiveness.
